"This is a great time to address ourselves, if we put enough effort. We can come out physically fitter, more mentally stable, stronger and with more potential. " There is every reason for us to look out for what is good in every difficult situation."

Dear Parents,

I bring you greetings from BSK.

We are glad that term two 2019-2020 has come to an end. With your support, we have registered another successful term. Am happy to report to you that, as usual, it was a great one with many new good things learnt by the students. Once again, thank you parents.

Over the years, we have built strong systems that can ably keep the school running in tough times like the present global situation. The School information management system in particular, backed up with good policies and guidelines have been very useful during this crisis. Special appreciation to our students for embracing the calls from world leaders towards keeping safe. Here is one from our own, Shawn Musoke year 8. He took his time to create a COVID-19 awareness chart; simple and meaningful.

Our Global partners, have worked around the clock in the past days to put in place more guidelines that affirm continuity. At no point should you or the children feel worried. The Covid-19 crisis must cement our relationship by you being quick to act on anything related to academic progress whenever we call upon you. Please encourage the students to use this time to research widely on topics they may have given less attention in the past months. This call is not to the senior students only. The junior learners too should spend more time working on the gaps realized during the term. This period should be an opportunity for the children to strengthen their reading culture under your guidance and supervision.

While in their study rooms, be quick to check on what is keeping them busy. It is unfortunate that their era is filled with so much online disruptions. The best tracker for this activity, is still the traditional use of The Notebook, where one jots down highlights of what they have read/revised. It is this book that you should use to check whether there has been progress during their private reading time.

Once again I would like to appreciate you for your continuous support. The progress reports have been sent on your email, please find time and engage your child on the teachers' feedback as provided therein.

Our next term dates still stand as advertised. Be sure that we shall reach out to you immediatley if there are any changes. Otherwise our third term is usually busy with final touches, consultations and reach outs to the learners in the areas where they need support.
